Interest Now Centers on Duval County Report to Be Made to Judge Burns By Federal Court Next Friday, Probe Lasted Eleven Days.

For the first time since last June 7, John McManigle, former deputy constable and one of the forty-two men indicted last June 3 for alleged election frauds, yesterday went free, having furnished bond. In the election fraud case McManigle was found not guilty, the jury so declaring in its Friday afternoon verdict.

McManigle, under indictment at Galveston, was indicted as a government agent and his bond had been set at $3500. At that time he was the president of a local oil company. His bond was $30,000.

Before his departure from Corpus Christi, he turned over his bonds to the staff and prints in Eastern Texas to aid in his defense.

McManigle is proceeding to Galveston to appear and answer to well over four thousand counts which he has pending against him.

Greene Remains Here.

John C. Greene, Dr. and James C. Wilson, attorney of the county and Neches Valley, Texas, continue their defense here before Judge Burns. Dr. Greene, who is the attorney for the government in the case, recently came back to the United States from Germany where he had been serving as a member of the American delegation to the Versailles Peace Conference.

Greene has come along through the recent examination, headed at the trial by Judge Adolph Julian, and recommended the discharge of several additional officers for trial.

The trial of McManigle is to begin on Sept. 25, and the trial of the other defendants will be on Oct. 1.
